PATENT MILL WHEELS.
The Subscriber having for a long time given his attention to the construction and operation of Water Wheels, has finally succeeded in the invention of two kinds of Wheels for which he has received Letters Patent from the Government of the United States.
These Wheels are simple in their construction, cheap and durable, are easily put in operation, and are not liable like most other wheels to get out of order; they are not obstructed by back water, when the head is not diminished thereby; and the same power and speed is obtained, with about one half the quantity of water usually applied to wheels now in general use.
A great number of these Wheels are now in operation and give in all cases entire satisfaction; and for further information respecting them the following gentlemen are referred to, all of whom have some of said wheels in operation: Jacob Drummond, James B. Fiske, Amos Davis and Leonard March, Esqrs., Messrs. Fiske & Norcross, Foster & Gilman, S. P. & H. Strickland, W. T. & H. Peirce & Co. Bangor; Hon. J. S. Little, Portland; Hon. PROSPECTUS OF THE MECHANICS' RECORD.
By a vote of the late STATE CONVENTION OF MECHANICS, a Committee was authorized to issue a Prospectus for the publication, in the city of Bangor, of a monthly periodical devoted to the interests of the Mechanics of the State, and to be the organ of communication between the different Associations already formed, and the means of increasing their numbers and extending their influence.
Agreeably to their instructions, the Committee now propose to their brethren, the Mechanics of Maine, the publication of a monthly periodical earnestly devoted to their interests—to all that concerns their social relations, their scientific attainments, and their progress in self-cultivation; a publication heartily engaged in disseminating a correct public sentiment regarding useful labor—in enlarging the boundaries of science, aiding in the improvement of the arts and in spreading useful information upon all subjects connected with education and the arts, as well as an organ of communication between the Mechanic Associations in the State.
It is confidently expected that the matter for each number will be furnished by the earnest thinkers in each of the Association in the State and by men who are deeply interested in the onward progress of humanity, by means of a better and a wider spread intelligence among the people, and a broader extension of physical science and the mechanic arts. The RECORD will be issued in a pamphlet form of convenient size, for binding, upon good paper and a clear type, each number to contain as many pages as the amount of the subscription at the time of its publication will warrant.
TERMS. The RECORD will be furnished to each subscriber for one dollar a year in advance, and no subscriptions will be received without the pay.
Delegates to the State Convention, the officers of the several Mechanic Associations and mechanics generally are requested to aid in procuring subscribers and remitting the money, that the experiment so honorable to them, if successful, and so useful to the community may not fail for the want of their co-operation and influence. It is expected, also, that each Association will take immediate measures to occupy a portion of the RECORD in those matters deemed of the greatest interest in advancing the cause which the mechanics in this State, for themselves, have so unanimously espoused.
The first number will be put to press as soon as notice is received of a sufficient subscription to sustain the publication.

PAGE'S VEGETABLE STRUP FOR FEMALES.
THE following gentlemen are the authorized Agents for selling the above mentioned valuable medicine, a medicine worthy the confidence of the public, and should be used by every female about to become a mother. It is invaluable in relieving the pains of Lying-in women, as has been proved by hundreds of ladies who have used it, and by many physicians who prescribe it in their practice. There is nothing deleterious in its composition, and the most delicate female in any condition may take it with perfect safety. The price of it in nearly all cases where used is more than saved by the mother getting up, and recovering her strength so as to be able to dismiss her nurse one to two weeks sooner than in ordinary cases. All persons wishing for further information respecting it, are referred to a pamphlet of a dozen or more pages accompanying the medicine (which may be had gratis of any agent), containing some general remarks upon the subject, proper and important to be read by all females, also several letters from physicians who have prescribed it, and from other gentlemen whose wives have used it.

POLITICAL.
The Third Party.
From an editorial article in the National Anti-Slavery Standard, edited by David Lee Child, we make the following extracts:—
"In the beginning, abolitionists thought only of abolishing slavery. With one heart and mind they united for the accomplishment of that object. They aimed not to create or to increase a sect or party; not to promote any narrow, selfish, or temporary interest. There was no envy, jealousy, or fear of one another. None balanced whether he should work with all men, and with all his might, for the common object of all. Each did in freedom and zeal whatever work he found to do. None wearied of his task, or vaunted his sacrifice or carp at his coadjutors. We were few, but we were felt, because we all pulled one way. The people, while they sorely tried us, were edified at the temper of the steel, and many who were skeptical of human disinterestedness, and therefore hopeless of the human race, had the grace to regret that our plan was but a pleasant vision. This auspicious progress was interrupted by the attempts of some to subject the opinions and the action of their brethren to tests of their own contrivance. They sought, by astute interpretations, to narrow our platform, and to monopolize anti-slavery truth, not reflecting that truth monopolized is error, as light when confined, becomes darkness. Such schemes, conceived in the very spirit of slaveholding, and revived from time to time in varying forms, it was the duty and the privilege of primitive abolitionists to meet and resist, 'with hearts of controversy.' It was not that they loved harmony less, but that they loved truth, the soul of harmony, more. Let us endeavor to put a finger upon the precise source of these discords. It was an attempt to wield prejudice against free inquiry, to control the operations of mind by the mechanical power of organization; to trammel up thought, lest in its free range it should hit institutions, and jostle down dogmas hitherto deemed sacred.—These attempts were probably made with good motives. The inquisition originated in the best of motives."
"The New Organization had gone off in the avowed ground that they could not, scripturally and conscientiously, remain in association where women were deemed to be 'persons,' and to have a voice. This will soon seem as wonderful as the witch delusion. With this, and with no other distinctive and avowed principle, did the New Organization start. They soon saw that they could make nothing of it; and that as a party, they must expire under the general odium, 'for their false clamor,' unless 'they got up a new issue.' This they did, voting that they were 'the Liberty party,' and nominating themselves for all the great offices in the country.—This Liberty Party is not, therefore, a form of political action, emanating from principle, but arising from the necessity of their position. The party came into existence not for the sake of the principles, but the principles for the sake of the party. It is nothing genuine—it is artificial, factitious; in short, it is a sham. It has hatched a whole brood of shams. The most notable of these is the dogma that an abolitionist cannot, without betraying the bleeding slave, retain a connection with either of the political parties, but is bound to come out from them. This is a cunning device for driving men into their own ranks. But to make the operation doubly sure, and tender escape from their toils impossible, a subsidiary sham was wanted. This was supplied by the sudden discovery that it is the bounden duty of every abolitionist to go to the polls, at all elections, and put in his vote. Thus, out of the sin of voting with either of the great parties, and the sin of not voting at all, they have made up scare-crows enough to turn all the terrified sinners in the country from their old accomplices to the third party.

"For ourselves we must say that we think the doctrine of repudiating all connections with those bodies from which our converts are to be made, and have been made, by whose accession to our ranks the great victory we hope for is to be achieved, however proper and useful it may be for individuals in particular circumstances and states of mind, is erroneous, as a principle of organized action, a departure from primitive abolitionism, a narrowing of the platform, an infringement of freedom, as unjust and schismatical when attempted to be imposed on the anti-slavery body by any number it is members as it would be if that body assumed to interdict it to those individuals who see their way clear to embrace it. 'Stand fast, therefore, in the liberty wherewith Christ has made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.'"
So much of the organ of the Liberty party, as given by a veteran abolitionist. We now have in the Liberator, an account of the manner in which these third party politicians have carried on their business, and the way they have used up the money which was contributed for other purposes. It will be understood that they are the originators of the third party, and that the papers in this and other States which have been set up since, are the lesser lights. Edmund Quincy's whose name appears below, has long been a most zealous abolitionist. Though extremely ultra and visionary as we conceive in many of his notions, we are not aware that any charge can lie against his integrity. (Ken Journal).

The Party of Unity.
Edmund Quincy in the last Liberator, thus speaks of the Liberty party and its leaders. The history is a true one; Mr. Quincy knows it "like a book." Yet this is the party which talks so much of the two great political parties in the country. The very press and type with which they weekly slander the most eminent men in the country, are STOLEN PROPERTY. Mr. Quincy says:
"About three years ago, the slaves of this country possessed a large amount of money, and other property, which was held in trust for their benefit by the American A. S. Society. This Society entrusted these funds to certain agents or attorneys called their Executive Committee. A part of this property was the Emancipator, in which not less than $20,000 of their funds had been invested. Two of these agents were the candidate of the Liberty party for President, and the editor of the Emancipator. Having good reasons to fear that their stewardship would be taken from them at their annual meeting of 1840, because they had justly forfeited the confidence of their employers, these unjust stewards devised ways and means to get possession of the property in their hands. Though they had received nearly fifty thousand dollars in the first six months of the year, and had property on hand at the time worth more than fourteen thousand dollars, on which they raised money for other purposes, they transformed the Emancipator, under pretence of poverty, to a society of young men in New York, who were, in effect, themselves under another name! And by them it was transferred to Mr. Joshua Leavitt, who was then, and still is, its editor, and was also, as I have said before, one of the original transferring Committee. At the very meeting at which the Emancipator was thus conveyed away, (the wise call it convey) for the want of means to carry it on for four weeks, the same Committee voted a large sum of money to Mr. Birney and to Mr. Stanton, another member of the Committee, and a prominent Liberty party man, to enable them to make an excursion to England to attend the London Conference. To pay these sums and arrears of salaries, (still unpaid notwithstanding the receipt of $50,000,) all the other property of the slaves was also transferred—so that when their accredited agents, the American Anti-Slavery Society, came together to call their servants to account, they found that their organ was clean conveyed away, and that they had not a shilling of their trust property with which to cross themselves! While these gentlemen are the recognized representatives of the Liberty party, as its Presidential candidate, and its leading editor, a true abolitionist cannot but put in the same category with the Whig and the Democratic parties, and regard it as equally undeserving of its support.
Besides these two individuals, many of the prominent Liberty men were either members of the unfaithful Committee of 1839, 40, or gave them their countenance by joining the hostile Society, which was formed for the purpose of destroying the true anti-slavery movement, and whose brief vitality was expended in SCATTERING OVER THE WORLD THE MOST ATROCIOUS FALSEHOODS AND WICKED CALUMNIES AGAINST ITS FAITHFUL FRIENDS OR AFFORDED THEM THE ENCOURAGEMENT OF A FEIGNED NEUTRALITY."
This is doubtless, (says the Lowell Journal) a true history of the Emancipator concern; and we ask every candid reader whether the words spoken by men like Leavitt, Stanton & Co., ought not to be taken with a great discount from truth, until at least they clear themselves from this charge of embezzling the property of others and appropriating it to a purpose different from that intended by the donors. We have no doubt that our people will soon see these leading disorganizers in their true colors. Hypocrisy and cant are not generally long-lived.

The first lecture before the Lyceum for the present season, will be delivered this evening by Lorenzo Sabine, Esq., of Eastport, upon the Colonial Governors of Plymouth and Massachusetts. The lecture will be one of much interest and well worthy the attention of all our citizens.

It is quite desirable that the managers of the Lyceum should know at the commencement of the course, about what encouragement they may expect in the way of funds, and of course it is important that all who propose attending the lectures before the Lyceum, should obtain their tickets at an early day; especially so as it may be necessary to have the number limited.

The City Hall has been repaired and fitted up in beautiful style and for this evening there will be an additional attraction, as there are a large number of rich oil paintings suspended upon the walls, designed for exhibition and sale.

The Lyceum has been well sustained in years past, and has been found a means of instruction and a source of elevated and refined pleasure.— Its advantages are so numerous that it is hoped it will not only be sustained but improved from year to year.

¶ J. B. Hayes, Esq. of Brewer has left at our office a bunch of the largest and fairest onions we ever beheld. They were raised upon his farm in Brewer and as he is an intelligent and successful cultivator and has a reason for every result we have obtained from him the promise of an article showing his mode of cultivating onions, from which so many have been discouraged, on account of a destructive worm in the bulb.
We hope also to hear from him upon other branches of agriculture.

¶ The Harrisburgh Union, a loco paper, puts in a claim for its party, as having passed the Tariff bill and being the party in favor of Protection. If this indicated a general disposition on the part of the locos to abandon their free trade notions and come in to the support of the American system of protecting our home industry against the world, we should rejoice in their reformation; but as it is only a piece of demagoguism, to meet a particular case just before election, the boldness and absurdity of the claim should be exposed.

¶ The Maine Farmer mentions a native sweet apple, of superior quality, raised at Foxcroft, in the orchard of Calvin Chamberlain. The apple is of a medium size, of a whitish yellow color, and on the sunny side, a slight blush—the skin thin —pulp tender, white and of a rich, pleasant sweet taste. It would be well for the farmers in this vicinity to procure some of the scions of this fruit, as good sweet apples are becoming every year more sought after.

¶ The editor of the Taunton Whig advises the women who cultivate flowers to water their plants with a solution of Ammonia, about three grains to a gallon of water. It is said to produce an astonishing improvement in a very short time, imparting vigor to delicate plants that seem likely to wither, and adding luxuriance to the foliage of all.

¶ Those who would have a bed of early lettuce next spring, and a crop of onions in good season next summer, should sow their seed during the first half of the month of October.

PARLEY'S CABINET LIBRARY—Famous Men of Ancient Times Part 2.

This number has been received by the Bangor Agents Messrs. Smith & Fenno. Those who have become acquainted with this publication will be pleased to learn that a new number awaits their call. This series of books will give the youth of our country a graphic view of the Biography of the famous men of ancient and modern times. A concentrated view of general history and a variety of miscellaneous reading in literature and science.

¶ Rev. O. A. Brownson of well known talent and eccentricity still contributes to the pages of the Democratic Review, and strikes heavy blows upon the heads of the leaders of modern Democracy. The following extract will show a contrast he has drawn between the laboring industrious people, and the Loco leaders:—

"We wanted freedom to perform the functions which God gave ye, to stand up the men ye were made to be, men of pure heart, of sound mind and strong hand, living and toiling for the realization of the will of heaven in the manifestation and growth of humanity—they want a political machine, in which ye shall be the cogs and wheels of the motive power, which they can work for their own political elevation and selffish ends. Hence their fawning and caresses, their protestations of love for the dear people, and their maddening shout of democracy. But what do they propose for your benefit, and what have they done to elevate your condition? They would extend to you the elective franchise—but with the express understanding that you are to vote for them! They are to turn you off with political equality, while they reap all the advantages."

¶ The Newburyport Watch Tower says that an unsuccessful attempt was made some days ago to steal one of the bones of the celebrated Winfield, which are deposited beneath the pulpit of the Federal street church in that town.
It is added as a fact well known that one of the bones of the arm was stolen several years ago and carried to England.

We saw yesterday a beautiful and costly gold box, presented by the cabin passengers of the packet ship Westminster, to Capt. E. C. Atwood of that ship, "as a testimonial of his intrepidity and skill, displayed during a hurricane on the night of the 21st of October, 1842, off the Banks of Newfoundland." Capt Atwood is a young man, a native of Newburyport, and is at present tarrying here for the reparation of his health, which is somewhat impaired.—[Newburyport Herald

The Washington correspondent of the N. York True Sun says:—

"Mr. Wickliffe has left Washington on a visit to Kentucky. He has undertaken the hopeless mission of raising a Tyler demonstration in that section of country, with equal success he could re-illumine the ashes of a ruined hearth. Private opinion is also loud in its gentle whispers that a personal interview with the aspirant of Ashland will exert a funny influence on the Cabinet manœuvres. The Postmaster General may make terms for himself, if not for his master, and the next few months will discover feats of ground and lofty tumbling that would astonish even the gentlemen of the ring."

The Postmaster General would, no doubt, like very much to make terms with Mr. Clay, but, if he has any such thought, he may as well dismiss it. We advise him to give Ashland a wide berth.
If he were to enter the enclosures of the great Kentuckian, there is not a shepherd's dog upon the place but would instinctively seize him by the leg.—[Louisville Journal

The Yellow Fever at New Orleans.

The following heart rending account is taken from a New Orleans paper of the 26th ult. :—

"We cannot shut our eyes to the truth, and we must, therefore, again warn persons at a distance who are unaccustomed, to keep away from the city until frost cuts short the career of the pestilence. There is no use in asserting that white is black, and that black is no color at all. The fever has assumed the form of an epidemic, as the best physicians in the city freely admit, and is more malignant in its attacks than on its first appearance this season. A week has not elapsed since the arrival of a family here from N York, consisting of the father, mother, two daughters, and a son. They stopped in the city, awaiting a boat for St. Louis, and are now, with a single exception in their graves. The father was taken sick on Wednesday last, but from ignorance of the symptoms of the disease, did not call in medical aid until it was ineffectual—the mother, through fear and obstinacy shared the fate of the partner of her bosom—and on Sunday last the white plumes of a hearse nodded over a coffin containing two young and beautiful girls, who had died in a wild embrace, far away from the home they had left, with glowing anticipations of the future. A blue-eyed, ruddy-cheeked boy, who has seen some ten summers, remains, like an isolated chimney that tells of the destruction of the house, to weep at the loss of those near and dear to him; but we are happy to state that the little fellow has been taken into the cabin of one of the packet ships at our levee, the captain of which will place him in the hands of affluent relatives. God bless the orphan!"

The Largest Wrought Iron Gun in the World.

For the last two weeks L. B. Ward & Co., have been hammering out, at the Hammersley Forge, at the foot of 39th street, North River, the largest gun, it is said, that we have any record of. It is fourteen feet long, three feet in diameter at the breech, and weighs thirty thousand pounds, or fifteen tons. It is made for Government, and will be placed on board the Princeton steamer, Capt. Stockton, now at Philadelphia. This extraordinary gun is hammered out with a hammer weighing fifteen thousand pounds. The process of heating and hammering such an immense shaft is wonderful. The machinery for placing the gun in the furnace, of putting it on the anvil, of turning, cutting and hammering, are so complete, that it is moved with a precision and facility truly astonishing. Cast iron guns of this size, and larger, are frequently made, but no attempt, we believe has ever before been made to make a gun of this size from wrought iron. It is calculated that the strength and power of this piece when finished, will carry a ball of one-third greater weight, and one-fourth increased distance, than the best cast iron gun. We have before given an account of a steam-boat shaft forged at this foundry, and it is a source of satisfaction that we are no longer compelled to resort to the workshops of Europe, or to cast iron, for any work of this description even of the largest character. [N. Y. Express.

¶ The White Hills yesterday presented a beautiful appearance from this quarter. The air was very clear, and for about one third the way down from the summit of the range, the mountain tops were covered with snow, resting upon the deep blue of the base.—[Portland Advertiser of Saturday.

¶ The Legislature of Tennessee met on Monday last. The session will, in many respects, be an important one; the permanent seat of government is to be established: Senators to the Congress of the United States are to be elected, as well as the most important State officers, namely, Secretary of State, Comptroller and Treasurer.

¶ At the Sandwich Islands, in the Rev Mr Lyons' field of labor, Waimea, during the last year where in a population of 5,700, four hundred and thirty four deaths, and in the same time there were ninety-eight births.

The N. Y. Herald has heard from 26 towns which have been carried by the Whigs at the late election of which four were gains, and 42, carried by the Locos, with one gain.

Self Education.

But who are the privileged class in our country, where all men are equal—where we have no Kings, no Princes, no Nobility, no titles! Look about you, I say again—look about you, and judge, every man for himself. Are they not the better educated, every where—and the children of the better educated—throughout the land?— Go abroad among your neighbors, let all your acquaintances pass in review before you—and see if those who are better off in the world, more influential and happier than the rest, other circumstances being equal, are not all—all, without one exception, better educated than the rest?— It is not a college education that I speak of here; it is not even a school education obtained before a man sets up for himself—but it is education at large, in the broadest and best sense of the term—the education that any body may give himself—any body at any age. Again therefore, I do appeal to yourselves to call to mind any of your acquaintance who has got ahead of his brethren—who is looked up to, not only by them but by others—and my life on it you find him a better educated man, self educated, or otherwise, I care not, better informed about some things which they do not consider of importance, I go farther—so perfectly satisfied am I of the truth of this doctrine—of the importance of things which the uneducated regard as trivial, that I would have this taught as a fundamental truth, namely, that if two persons were to begin the world to-morrow—both of the same capacity—both of the same age and the same character—having the same friends the same prospects and the same health—he who was the best acquainted with the multiplication table, would beat the other in the long run. I would have it generally understood as another fundamental maxim in morals, if not in religion, that every sort of knowledge is of some value to every person, whatever may be his character, station or prospects. I do not say that it would be of equal value to every person, or that every sort of knowledge is alike necessary. I merely say that we cannot acquire any useless knowledge.

But, say those who appear to have understanding and judgment in these matters, we have no time for study—we, the mechanics. No time for study! What! have you no time, when a huge ponderous body is to be lifted—no time to fix the lever and the fulcrum—to prepare the inclined plane or hitch the tackle? Is it economy of time for you to do that with your hands, which might be done with the simplest piece of machinery? Would you set your apprentices to work, your journeymen and yourselves, to lift and carry, by main strength, what a child might push forward on a roller, if you would but take time enough to fix the roller? What would you say of a man who, instead of using the plough, as others do, should persist in digging a large field with a fire shovel, because he had never been brought up to the plough? What if a man who, instead of splitting his logs for firewood, with a beetle and wedge, were to saw them in two lengthwise, with a key-hole saw—declaring all the while, that for him, he did not pretend to know much about mechanics—that a key-hole saw was good enough for him—and as for the beetle and wedge, and other out-of-the-way contrivances, for his part he had no belief in them.

Would you not laugh at him as a poor economist of time—and a very poor reasoner? And would he not be likely to continue a very poor man? Yet he would say no more than you say—every man of you, when you declare you have no time for reading; no time for study; no time to improve yourself, each in his own particular trade, by stepping out of the circle he was brought up in.
How do you know but there is some shorter and easier way of doing all that you do in your workshops and factories? Be assured that there is a shorter and easier way for all of us—that there is no one thing we do, in which improvements may not be made. Have you not the proof continually before your eyes? Are not the master workmen the owners and the employers of other men—are they not those who have the best use, not of their fingers, but of their thinkers? [John Neal.

of Bangor as a MINIATURE PAINTER. He has opened rooms in West Market Place adjoining to and opposite the Lafayette Banking room. His success in other places and the skill he hopes to display here he trusts will give entire confidence to all who may wish to avail themselves of a correct and life-like likeness of their own person or that of their cherished friends.

His paintings are all of one style and one price, and such as is believed will be satisfactory to all who can appreciate the beauties of the art.
The public are invited to visit his rooms and

SINGING SCHOOL.

THE Subscriber proposes to open a school for improvement and practice as a principal, in the third department of Vocal Music (i. e. Dynamics) if sufficient encouragement is given and although in a great measure designed for those who have made some proficiency in the elementary principles, those who may wish to commence the study of Music will find it much for their advantage to attend.

The Subscriber is induced to this course from experience in his and other schools, knowing there is a great deficiency in the application of this department in general, and owing in a great measure to the shortness of the terms—therefore, he is desirous to make every exertion in his power, for the improvement of all who may attend in point of execution and knowledge.
School to commence on Wednesday evening, Oct. 11, at Brown's Hall, at 7 o'clock, where all who may wish, are respectfully invited to meet.
Tuition moderate and satisfactory, and will be made known at the Hall together with the number of lessons. Book Carmina Sacra.

Autumn—Long evenings—Improvement.

The foliage of the woods has assumed the variegated autumnal tint: the farmers' barns are thick stowed with bounteous harvests and their cellars are fast being filled with esculent roots and "thrifts leeks," and blushing fruit. The cattle in the fields are sleek fat and clean and the husbandman has reason to bless the bountiful Giver of all good. The season has been one of general health and general abundance. The falling leaf, foretells the speedy close of active outdoor farming, a relaxation of physical labor, and the lengthened evenings call upon the farmer and upon all classes in the community, particularly upon all those who toil by sun light, to improve the evenings in mental labor and the cultivation of their social nature and of the affections. In every village there should be a Lyceum or Mechanic Association where the mass of the population male and female, young and old may meet and receive and give instruction and cultivate an acquaintance and grow wiser and better. Every little neighborhood may form a social circle for reading—for declamation for debates and for writing—in which all may be interested and improved.

In a neighborhood not far from this city the people were desirous of improving the long evenings of winter and formed themselves into a society to meet once a week for mutual instruction and entertainment. It was found rather difficult to keep up the interest of the meetings and to get all to engage in the exercises until it was agreed that each member should during the week hand a communication to one member selected by the society, whose duty it was to examine all the articles and from them to make up what was called a paper, to be read to the meeting. This plan opened a door for the exercise of all the variety of talent there was in the society—some were learned and others were witty—some gave good practical thoughts and others poetry—all had their thoughts in their department of labor or observation. The editor of the society paper was a wise and discreet man (as editors always are!) and by his happy faculty in helping this one a little, and encouraging that, and making it all go off so well, and keeping the secrets of each, that a kind and friendly social feeling prevailed the whole neighborhood—all were highly entertained one evening in the week and had abundant material for conversation and thought for all the others. There was a constant improvement in penmanship and composition, and a highly salutary discipline of the mind in all who engaged in writing.

This is one of the modes in which the people of a neighborhood may unite their efforts in mental pursuits and in rational entertainment. And we cannot but hope that this or some other mode may be adopted in every village and neighborhood in our State.

An example and encouragement to Young Men.

The Richmond (Va.) Whig, in some remarks upon the candidate of the Whigs for Governor of Massachusetts, furnishes an honorable example to the young men of the nation, and an encouragement for them to persevere in honorable pursuits.

It says that GEORGE N. BRIGGS, the Whig candidate for Governor of Massachusetts, is one of those not uncommon examples on which the young men of this country should reflect, and after whom they should learn to pattern. His life, though in a sphere somewhat more limited, has been not less brilliantly successful than that of Franklin or Sherman. He is in fact more worthy to be held up for the emulation of the young man, than any one of those who have been generally presented with the view of exciting it, because his course has been without remarkable events, and distinguished only by remarkable purity, industry and talents.

He is now universally respected by the first men of the nation, and nominated by the large Whig majority of Massachusetts, for Governor of one of the first States in the Union, and will undoubtedly be elected. What a transition from the poor pedestrian and journeyman hatter, with his trunk on his back, and penniless, entering his native State, to the executive chair of that State, and that transition was made by his unaided talent and industry, in the short space of twenty years. Remember that young men.

Court Courier.

The grand jury of the District Court now in session in this city, rose yesterday and reported 27 bills of indictment. Of these, 10 were against individuals for retailing and inholding without license, 9 for larceny, 3 against towns for bad roads, 2 for assault and battery, 2 for riot, and 1 for a felonious assault. Of the indictments for larceny, four were against James A. Mitchell, on which he pleaded guilty—and one against Eliphalet Leavitt, on which he also pleaded guilty. James Henessey also pleaded guilty on indictment for assault and battery. In addition to these indictments, 15 cases of appeal in criminal causes have already been brought into court this term. Twenty-eight criminal actions on the old docket, besides those against towns for bad roads remain to be disposed of. The Court will proceed this morning with the trial of the indictments; Mr. Parks still acting as County Attorney in the prosecution.

Lyceum.

The first lecture before the Lyceum for the present season, will be delivered this evening by Lorenzo Sabine, Esq., of Eastport, upon the Colonial Governors of Plymouth and Massachusetts. The lecture will be one of much interest and well worthy the attention of all our citizens.

It is quite desirable that the managers of the Lyceum should know at the commencement of the course, about what encouragement they may expect in the way of funds, and of course it is important that all who propose attending the lectures before the Lyceum, should obtain their tickets at an early day; especially so as it may be necessary to have the number limited.

The City Hall has been repaired and fitted up in beautiful style and for this evening there will be an additional attraction, as there are a large number of rich oil paintings suspended upon the walls, designed for exhibition and sale.

The Lyceum has been well sustained in years past, and has been found a means of instruction and a source of elevated and refined pleasure. Its advantages are so numerous that it is hoped it will not only be sustained but improved from year to year.

J. B. Hayes, Esq. of Brewer has left at our office a bunch of the largest and fairest onions we ever beheld. They were raised upon his farm in Brewer and as he is an intelligent and successful cultivator and has a reason for every result we have obtained from him the promise of an article showing his mode of cultivating onions, from which so many have been discouraged, on account of a destructive worm in the bulb. We hope also to hear from him upon other branches of agriculture.

The Harrisburgh Union, a loco paper, puts in a claim for its party, as having passed the Tariff bill and being the party in favor of Protection. If this indicated a general disposition on the part of the locos to abandon their free trade notions and come in to the support of the American system of protecting our home industry against the world, we should rejoice in their reformation; but as it is only a piece of demagoguism, to meet a particular case just before election, the boldness and absurdity of the claim should be exposed.

The Maine Farmer mentions a native sweet apple, of superior quality, raised at Foxcroft, in the orchard of Calvin Chamberlain. The apple is of a medium size, of a whitish yellow color, and on the sunny side a slight blush—the skin thin—pulp tender, white and of a rich, pleasant sweet taste. It would be well for the farmers in this vicinity to procure some of the scions of this fruit, as good sweet apples are becoming every year more sought after.

The editor of the Taunton Whig advises the women who cultivate flowers to water their plants with a solution of Ammonia, about three grains to a gallon of water. It is said to produce an astonishing improvement in a very short time, imparting vigor to delicate plants that seem likely to wither, and adding luxuriance to the foliage of all.

Those who would have a bed of early lettuce next spring, and a crop of onions in good season next summer, should sow their seed during the first half of the month of October.

The seventeenth Annual Fair of the American Institute, will commence in the city of New York, on the 10th inst.

PARLEY'S CABINET LIBRARY—Famous Men of Ancient Times Part 2.

This number has been received by the Bangor Agents Messrs. Smith & Fenno. Those who have become acquainted with this publication will be pleased to learn that a new number awaits their call. This series of books will give the youth of our country a graphic view of the Biography of the famous men of ancient and modern times. A concentrated view of general history and a variety of miscellaneous reading in literature and science.

Rev. O. A. Brownson of well known talent and eccentricity still contributes to the pages of the Democratic Review, and strikes heavy blows upon the heads of the leaders of modern Democracy. The following extract will show a contrast he has drawn between the laboring industrious people, and the Loco leaders:—

"Ye wanted freedom to perform the functions which God gave ye, to stand up the men ye were made to be, men of pure heart, of sound mind and strong hand, living and toiling for the realization of the will of heaven in the manifestation and growth of humanity—they want a political machine, in which ye shall be the cogs and wheels or the motive power, which they can work for their own political elevation and selfish ends. Hence their fawning and caresses, their protestations of love for the dear people, and their maddening shout of democracy. But what do they propose for your benefit, and what have they done to elevate your condition? They would extend to you the elective franchise—but with the express understanding that you are to vote for them! They are to turn you off with political equality, while they reap all the advantages."

The Newburyport Watch Tower says that an unsuccessful attempt was made some days ago to steal one of the bones of the celebrated Whitfield, which are deposited beneath the pulpit of the Federal street church in that town. It is added as a fact well known that one of the bones of the arm was stolen several years ago and carried to England.

We saw yesterday a beautiful and costly gold box, presented by the cabin passengers of the packet ship Westminster, to Capt. E. C. Atwood of that ship, "as a testimonial of his intrepidity and skill, displayed during a hurricane on the night of the 21st of October, 1842, off the Banks of Newfoundland." Capt Atwood is a young man, a native of Newburyport, and is at present tarrying here for the reparation of his health, which is somewhat impaired.—[Newburyport Herald]

The Washington correspondent of the N. York True Sun says:—

"Mr. Wickliffe has left Washington on a visit to Kentucky. He has undertaken the hopeless mission of raising a Tyler demonstration in that section of country; with equal success he could re-illumine the ashes of a ruined hearth. Private opinion is also loud in its gentle whispers that a personal interview with the aspirant of Ashland will exert a funny influence on the Cabinet manœuvres. The Postmaster General may make terms for himself, if not for his master, and the next few months will discover feats of ground and lofty tumbling that would astonish even the gentlemen of the ring."

The Postmaster General would, no doubt, like very much to make terms with Mr. Clay, but, if he has any such thought, he may as well dismiss it. We advise him to give Ashland a wide berth. If he were to enter the enclosures of the great Kentuckian, there is not a shepherd's dog upon the place but would instinctively seize him by the leg.—[Louisville Journal]

The Yellow Fever at New Orleans.

The following heart rending account is taken from a New Orleans paper of the 26th ult. :—

"We cannot shut our eyes to the truth, and we must, therefore, again warn persons of a distance who are unacquainted, to keep away from the city until frost cuts short the career of the pestilence. There is no use in asserting that white is black, and that black is no color at all. The fever has assumed the form of an epidemic, as the best physicians in the city freely admit, and is more malignant in its attacks than on its first appearance this season. A week has not elapsed since the arrival of a family here from New York, consisting of the father, mother, two daughters, and a son. They stopped in the city, awaiting a boat for St. Louis, and are now, with a single exception in their graves! The father was taken sick on Wednesday last, but from ignorance of the symptoms of the disease, did not call in medical aid until it was ineffectual—the mother, through fear and obstinacy shared the fate of the partner of her bosom—and on Sunday last the white plumes of a hearse nodded over a coffin containing two young and beautiful girls, who had died in a wild embrace, far away from the home they had left, with glowing anticipations of the future. A blue-eyed, ruddy-checked boy, who has seen some ten summers, remains, like an isolated chimney that tells of the destruction of the house, to weep at the loss of those near and dear to him; but we are happy to state that the little fellow has been taken into the cabin of one of the packet ships at our levee, the captain of which will place him in the hands of affluent relatives. God bless the orphan!"

The Largest Wrought Iron Gun in the World.

For the last two weeks L. B. Ward & Co., have been hammering out, at the Hammersley Forge, at the foot of 29th street, North River, the largest gun, it is said, that we have any record of. It is fourteen feet long, three feet in diameter at the breech, and weighs thirty thousand pounds, or fifteen tons. It is made for Government, and will be placed on board the Princeton steamer, Capt. Stockton, now at Philadelphia. This extraordinary gun is hammered out with a hammer weighing fifteen thousand pounds. The process of heating and hammering such an immense shaft is wonderful. The machinery for placing the gun in the furnace, of putting it on the anvil, of turning, cutting and hammering, are so complete, that it is moved with a precision and facility truly astonishing. Cast iron guns of this size, and larger, are frequently made, but no attempt, we believe has ever before been made to make a gun of this size from wrought iron. It is calculated that the strength and power of this piece when finished, will carry a ball of one-third greater weight, and one-fourth increased distance, than the best cast iron gun. We have before given an account of a steam-boat shaft forged at this foundry, and it is a source of satisfaction that we are no longer compelled to resort to the workshops of Europe, or to cast iron, for any work of this description even of the largest character. [N. Y. Express.]

The White Hills yesterday presented a beautiful appearance from this quarter. The air was very clear, and for about one third the way down from the summit of the range, the mountain tops were covered with snow, resting upon the deep blue of the base.—[Portland Advertiser of Saturday.]

The Legislature of Tennessee met on Monday last. The session will, in many respects, be an important one; the permanent seat of government is to be established: Senators to the Congress of the United States are to be elected, as well as the most important State officers, namely, Secretary of State, Comptroller and Treasurer.

At the Sandwich Islands, in the Rev Mr Lyons' field of labor, Waimea, during the last year where in a population of 5,700, four hundred and thirty four deaths, and in the same time there were ninety-eight births.

The N. Y. Herald has heard from 26 towns which have been carried by the Whigs at the late election of which four were gains, and 42, carried by the Locos, with one gain.

Self Education.

But who are the privileged class in our country, where all men are equal—where we have no Kings, no Princes, no Nobility, no titles! Look about you, I say again—look about you, and judge, every man for himself. Are they not the better educated, every where—and the children of the better educated—throughout the land?—Go abroad among your neighbors, let all your acquaintances pass in review before you—and see if those who are better off in the world, more influential and happier than the rest, other circumstances being equal, are not all—without one exception, better educated than the rest?—It is not a college education that I speak of here; it is not even a school education obtained before a man sets up for himself—but it is education at large, in the broadest and best sense of the term—the education that any body may give himself—any body at any age. Again therefore, I do appeal to yourselves to call to mind any of your acquaintance who has got ahead of his brethren—who is looked up to, not only by them but by others—and my life on it you find him a better educated man, self educated, or otherwise, I care not, better informed about some things which they do not consider of importance, I go farther—so perfectly satisfied am I of the truth of this doctrine—of the importance of things which the uneducated regard as trivial, that I would have this taught as a fundamental truth, namely, that if two persons were to begin the world to-morrow—both of the same capacity—both of the same age and the same character—having the same friends the same prospects and the same health—he who was the best acquainted with the multiplication table, would beat the other in the long run. I would have it generally understood as another fundamental maxim in morals, if not in religion, that every sort of knowledge is of some value to every person, whatever may be his character, station or prospects. I do not say that it would be of equal value to every person, or that every sort of knowledge is alike necessary. I merely say that we cannot acquire any useless knowledge.

But, say those who appear to have understanding and judgment in these matters, we have no time for study—we, the mechanics. No time for study! What! have you no time, when a huge ponderous body is to be lifted—no time to fix the lever and the fulcrum—to prepare the inclined plane or hitch the tackle? Is it economy of time for you to do that with your hands, which might be done with the simplest piece of machinery? Would you set your apprentices to work, your journeymen and yourselves, to lift and carry, by main strength, what a child might push forward on a roller, if you would but take time enough to fix the roller? What would you say of a man who, instead of using the plough, as others do, should persist in digging a large field with a fire shovel, because he had never been brought up to the plough? What if a man who, instead of splitting his logs for firewood, with a beetle and wedge, were to saw them in two lengthwise, with a key-hole saw—declaring all the while, that as for him, he did not pretend to know much about mechanics—that a key-hole saw was good enough for him—and as for the beetle and wedge, and other out-of-the-way contrivances, for his part he had no belief in them.

Would you not laugh at him as a poor economist of time—and a very poor reasoner? And would he not be likely to continue a very poor man? Yet he would say no more than you say—every man of you, when you declare you have no time for reading; no time for study; no time to improve yourself, each in his own particular trade, by stepping out of the circle he was brought up in. How do you know but there is some shorter and easier way of doing all that you do in your workshops and factories? Be assured that there is a shorter and easier way for all of us—that there is no one thing we do, in which improvements may not be made. Have you not the proof continually before your eyes? Are not the master workmen the owners and the employers of other men—are they not those who have the best use, not of their fingers, but of their thinkers? [John Neal.]

DELIGHTFUL RIVER FARM—ALSO, A BRICK HOUSE FOR SALE.

A GOOD Farm on Oak Point, two miles above Frankfort village, is now offered for Sale on such terms as to make it a desirable bargain to the purchaser. The Farm contains one hundred and fifty acres, bounded easterly on the river the width of nearly two original lots, has a good house and barn and a good well of water. The location of the Farm affords many superior advantages to the practical Agriculturist. Dock mud may be obtained in abundance for manure, on the premises—sea weed can be obtained with little labor—a market for the productions of the Farm can be found at the very door, by the Shipping. Frankfort Village is but two miles distant down the river, and it is but ten miles up the river to Bangor, with excellent land and water communication.

Also, for sale a good brick house in the city of Bangor, situated on Lincoln Street, with an acre of land adjoining. Outbuildings and everything in good order, and delightfully located.

For further information, application may be made to the Subscriber at BANGOR.

SINGING SCHOOL.

THE Subscriber proposes to open a school for improvement and practice as a principal, in the third department of Vocal Music 1.2.3.4.5.6.7.8.9.10.11.12. Dynamics if sufficient encouragement is given, and although in a great measure designed for those who have made some proficiency in the elementary principles, those who may wish to commence the study of Music will find it much for their advantage to attend.

The Subscriber is induced to this course from experience in his and other schools, knowing there is a great deficiency in the application of this department in general, and owing in a great measure to the shortness of the terms—therefore, he is desirous to make every exertion in his power, for the improvement of all who may attend in point of execution and knowledge.

School to commence on Wednesday evening, Oct. 11, at Brown's Hall, at 7 o'clock, where all who may wish, are respectfully invited to meet. Tuition moderate and satisfactory, and will be made known at the Hall together with the number of lessons. Book Carmina Sacra.

FARM FOR SALE.
THE subscriber offers for sale, that tract of land known as the Todd farm in the town of Chester. It is pleasantly situated on the river about four miles above Lincoln village and consists of about 85 acres mostly excellent tillage land, including eight or ten acres of intervals. There is a small house upon it somewhat out of repair and a moderate sized barn. To an experienced and practical Farmer, who would improve it himself, this Farm would be highly valuable, as it will yield with suitable cultivation a large crop of Hay and Grain, which in that situation must always command a market at good prices. It will be sold on reasonable terms on application to me at Bangor.
